

Mark S. Kirschbaum, PhD

Mark S. Kirschbaum, PhD, RN is the Chief Quality, Safety and Clinical Information Officer at University of Texas Medical Branch (UTMB). Before joining UTMB Health, Mark served as the senior vice president, quality and information, at the University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics.

Mark has over 30 years experience in management, education, and clinical positions. He has devoted much of the past fifteen years of his career to operational process analysis and system design, including information system and quality architectures, to improve clinical outcome and program performance and support multidisciplinary patient care operations.