

Stephen D. Petty

Steve Petty has been in the healthcare field in Oklahoma for the past 25 years working in a number of areas including, public relations, marketing, physician relations and business development.

For the past 18 years, he has been with INTEGRIS Health, Oklahoma's largest health system, serving as the Corporate Director of Community Wellness & Diversity. In this role, he oversees the health system's community benefit activities, including community outreach through free clinics, senior health and wellness, community education, Hispanic outreach, mentoring in public schools, childhood obesity programs, diabetes, cancer and Alzheimer support groups and community health and education events. Steve developed Oklahoma's first established men's program with the INTEGRIS Men's Health University in 2004, in response to the negative health issues affecting men in the state.

Steve received his Bachelor's degree in Advertising from Central State University and his Master's degree in Public Relations/Communications from the University of Oklahoma. He is also one of seven professionals in the United States with a graduate certificate in Community Benefit from the University of St. Louis, the first certification of its kind in the nation.

Steve is a member for the Men's Health Network in Washington, D.C., serves as Treasurer of the American Public Health Association's Men's Health Caucus, Board of Directors and Executive Board of the Oklahoma Chapter of the American Red Cross for 10 years, Board of Directors and Executive Board of the South Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce for 21 years, Past President of the Board of the Oklahoma District Attorney's Good Samaritans' Board.